

RECIPROCITY DEFEAT INFLUENCES MARKET

Wheat Declines, Then Advances Sharply—Cable Advices Rather Colorless—Unimportant Changes in Corn.

New York, September 24.—Early in the week domestic wheat markets were inactive and narrow. This caused little surprise, as it was evident that almost all traders were holding aloof or merely "scalping" in a small way for quick returns, while awaiting the outcome of the vote on the reciprocity proposition in Canada. The uncertainty caused much nervousness and erratic price changes. The receipt of various conflicting advices from Canada naturally made most traders cautious. Occasionally the feeling was firmer on reports of rain in the Canadian harvest fields and on predictions that the vote would be favorable for reciprocity. At one time holders for the rise here were inclined to unload, owing partly to the unexpectedly large increase in the visible supply and predictions of larger primary receipts in the Northwest, it being claimed that farmers were making larger deliveries to country stations.

Home and Foreign Markets.
Cable advices were rather colorless. The general trend being slightly downward, owing partly to the fairly large world's shipments and more favorable crop reports from Germany, France and Argentina. Probably the weakness in European markets was largely attributable to the more pacific political outlook, being the cause of the opinion that the dispute over the Moroccan question was about to be settled amicably. At midweek the market was sluggish. As a great many traders here and West, and especially in the Northwest, anticipated a favorable vote of Congress, the market prices advanced in a somewhat sensational fashion, and especially in Northwestern markets, where short sellers became exceedingly anxious to cover, owing to the defeat of the proposition.

The Duluth market seemed to be the most keenly affected, prices there rising 1/2 cents in a few hours, while Minneapolis was up 3/8-5/8 cents. At the same time New York and Chicago both rose 1/4 cents, while Kansas City gained 1/4 cents. It was the general impression that large quantities of hard Kansas wheat would be shipped to Northwestern millers because of the failure of reciprocity and the poor quality of a large part of our own spring wheat crop. It is alleged that some of the grain is so inferior and light in weight that it will take between five and six bushels instead of one and one-half bushels to make a barrel of flour. Hence it is little wonder that Kansas wheat, which is choice, should be in excellent demand. Consequently, it is the general impression that our exports must fall off sharply before long, unless bids from European markets are raised appreciably. Apparently there is no surplus to spare for export, unless it be of soft winter, and possibly a little macaroni. It is worthy of note that another steamer cleared this week with a cargo of 186,719 bushels of durum wheat for St. Petersburg. This is certainly a significant item of all the reports respecting poor crop prospects in that empire. Furthermore, part of the advance at the end of the week was attributed partly to reports of unsatisfactory prospects in Russia for corn as well as wheat and rye. Aside from the remarkable advances mentioned, there is a little change in the domestic situation, the weather West being favorable, while primary receipts were about equal to home requirements, although smaller than a year ago at this point.

Little Change in Corn.
Corn was inactive, with unimportant changes most of the week. At times there was a slightly firmer feeling, and particularly toward the close, when the strength was largely in sympathy with the rise in wheat and oats, the latter having advanced sharply because of the report of reciprocity. The firmness in corn early in the week was attributed partly to complaints of too much moisture West, light primary receipts, and a fair domestic demand, sales being reported at Western centers for shipment to interior points. Further west that usually have a surplus. Cable advices, however, were somewhat discouraging. Consequently the demand for European account has fallen off.

SPOT DEPARTMENT WILL RULE MARKET

New Orleans, La., September 24.—The cotton market this week will undoubtedly be ruled by conditions in the spot department. If offerings continue as free as they have been and trade demand does not improve, the advance will be wholly with the short side in the future market. The movement promises to increase, and it now looks as if the into-sight for this week will be over a half million bales. Such statistics will have the effect of strengthening the position that spinners have taken to buy only to supply their current needs.

At the close of last week farmers in some sections were not free sellers. The belief among the bears, however, is that any fresh declines this week will cause holders to let go more freely. The weather will be a factor of great importance, because much cotton has been packed and stored in the seed that rains would be able to run for some time, even if picking should cease as the result of rains. Wet weather would, of course, add impetus to the grade of open cotton.

The market is now having a period of rest. On Monday the Census Bureau will issue a report on supply and distribution of cotton up to August 31. To-day ends the second period in the spinning report; schedules of the bureau. To-morrow is the date to which the last condition report of the season by the Department of Agriculture will carry the crop. Both of these reports will be issued a week from Monday, and this week will see several important private forecasts of them which may put prices one way or another. That spinners' report will be very bearish is a foregone conclusion, but the trade has yet made up its mind what to expect from the fields.

The New Orleans crop situation is unfolding in an interesting manner, and the market promises a fair degree of activity.

DIXIE CHAPTER ELECTS OFFICERS

Bowdoin; Recording Secretary, Miss Nannie Lee White; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Harry Ball; Treasurer, Mrs. J. T. Sharpley; Historian, Mrs. E. H. Conquest; Register, Mrs. J. W. Broughton; Mrs. M. Louise Trader and Mrs. J. T. Sharpley were named as delegates to the general convention, with Miss Nannie Lee White, Mrs. W. S. D. Fletcher, Mrs. E. H. Conquest and Mrs. Frank Fletcher as alternates. Mrs. Frank Fletcher will represent the chapter at the State convention.

The annual reunion of the Harmanston Post, Confederate Veterans, will take place at Onancock, Va., on October 5. Addresses will be made by Colonel Robert E. Lee, of Fairfax county, Va.; Theodore S. Edwards commanding, will furnish the music.

Belle Harvill, friend, pastor of the Baptist Church, has received a call to the Hampton Presbyterian Church. Mr. Friend is an experienced minister of the Union Theological Seminary, and has been at Hampton for seven years.

Rev. and Mrs. William E. Warren, of Modest Town, have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Lucy Davenport, and David A. Duncley, of Richmond, Wednesday evening, September 27, at the Baptist Church.

The Chincoteague High School opened Monday with an enrollment of 461. It is doubtful if the number is surpassed by a country school in the State.

Wanted oysters on the bay and ocean side made large during the summer and are in better demand now than at any time the past made comparatively no growth and are much smaller than usual.

ROCKEFELLER INTERESTED IN INJURED WORKMAN

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Tarrytown, N. Y., September 24.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is deeply interested in the case of Joseph Perelli, who was badly injured a week ago when a bundle of steel fell from the second story of Mr. Rockefeller's father's house, injuring six workmen. Perelli was hit on the back by 1,000 pounds of steel. Both hips were dislocated.

Perelli had been treated in a temporary hospital in the Rockefeller family, but to-day was taken to the Tarrytown Hospital, and it is said he will get well.

GENERAL SENTIMENT CONTINUES BEARISH

Liquidation of Stale Bull Accounts and Renewed Heavy Speculative Selling are Features of Cotton Market's Past Week.

New York, September 24.—Liquidation of stale bull accounts and renewed heavy speculative selling were the feature of the market throughout the past week. The same conditions have prevailed at Liverpool and New Orleans with trading on a heavier scale than for some time. This has been at the expense of values throughout the option list of 1-5 to 2-4 of a cent per pound, and between $3.25 and $3.50 per bale, from last Saturday's closing quotations.

After breaking sharply about 50 to 60 points by the middle of the week, there was a good recovery of about 20 points by Thursday afternoon, but the stock market demoralization early yesterday there was such renewed heavy selling of cotton for both long and short accounts, as well as on Southern orders, that the whole list gave way again, and a drop of one to two points for the week by selling down to the extent mentioned above. This carried September down to about 10.75, while October went to 10.50, December 10.25, January 10.00, and March to 9.75. While there was good buying by trade interests during the decline yesterday, the market closed then with only a few points rally from the lowest.

The Air Market Position.
Existing trade conditions are against a bull movement in cotton, with the prospect at present of a crop between 13,500,000 and 14,000,000 bales. But on the other hand, the price of spot cotton has been or is being gradually adjusted on the Southern market to the 10-12-cent basis for mid-October. The price may be driven down to 10 cents, if the above disturbing conditions continue for the next thirty or sixty days. But, on the other hand, 10-12-cent cotton is the cheapest the world has seen for years, and in the last two or three years, and therefore, it discounts a great many of these seemingly very bearish factors.

The average price which cotton brought on the two crops of the last two years for the season was about 14-14 1/2 cents. The present price is, therefore, nearly 4 cents per pound or $20 per bale cheaper, and with the world's spinners requiring a crop of 13,500,000 bales to make up for the shortage in supplies for the last two years, had to give them a comfortable surplus in the carry-over from this season's crop. In the next year, 10-cent cotton would look like a bargain to restore a profitable working basis for all the American mills and cause a heavily increased consumption in making up cotton goods generally.

WEEK DEMORALIZING IN THE STOCK MARKET

New York, September 24.—The collapse of the securities of the United States Steel Corporation was the sensational event of a turbulent week in the stock market.

Enormous liquidation in the common shares culminated Friday in an outpouring of the stock which had not been witnessed for a decade. The entire market was convulsed, and it required extensive support from powerful interests to check the movement and restore a condition of comparative calm. The problem of the relations between the government and corporations was the paramount factor. Industrial conditions and foreign financial and political affairs retained a supplementary influence.

The extent of the selling of Steel common and, even more, the declines in the preferred stock and in the sinking fund second mortgage bonds indicated that a concerted opinion had been advanced, arrived by powerful interests in the company, which prompted them to rid themselves of their securities.

A disturbing feature of the situation, which seemed to alarm investors in Steel securities, was the impossibility of determining the exact cause of the upheaval.

In general, it was said to the relief that dissolution of the Steel Corporation was impending. Widely repeated reports that the corporation had taken voluntary steps toward that end to avoid dissolution suit by the government, were met with the Attorney General's statement that no such proposals had been made to the Department of Justice.

The exhaustive examination which the department had been making of the affairs of the Steel Corporation seemed to give point to the belief that it was soon to take action against the company for the violation of the anti-trust law.

President Taft's speech at Detroit, dwelling upon the effect of the trust decisions of the Supreme Court in insuring competitive conditions, seemed to give point to the belief that the corporation had taken voluntary steps toward that end to avoid dissolution suit by the government.

The annual reunion of the Harmanston Post, Confederate Veterans, will take place at Onancock, Va., on October 5. Addresses will be made by Colonel Robert E. Lee, of Fairfax county, Va.; Theodore S. Garrison, of Norfolk; and an original poem will be rendered by Dr. L. P. Conquest, of Pocomoke City. The Confederate chapter of Fort Mifflin, with Mrs. J. G. ## HARSH CRITICISM FOR PRESIDENT

Senator Bourne Takes Him to Task for Peoria Speech.

Atlantic City, N. J., September 24.—United States Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., of Oregon, gave out a statement here yesterday in which he takes issue with some of President Taft's remarks in his speech at Peoria, Ill.

The Senator says: "To use one of his own favorite expressions, President Taft was disingenuous in his speech at Peoria yesterday when he attempted to state his opinion of the people and also to define his attitude toward the Arizona Constitution. He says he has confidence in the sober second thought of the people, yet he vetoed the statehood resolution, which he proposed to submit to the people of Arizona a second time the question whether that constitutional provision for the recall should apply to judges as well as to other officers. Here was a plain proposal to submit to the sober second thought of the people but the President was not willing, and insisted that the recall of judges must be eliminated, regardless of the most matured consideration."

"I would regret to believe his statement that he put his heart in his veto of the Arizona resolution, for his veto message contains two direct misrepresentations of the provisions of the Arizona recall, and another that is false by necessary implication. I had entertained the charitable view that his errors were of the mind and not of the heart."

"The President was again disingenuous when he said that many of the measures advocated by Progressives are State and not national questions. I insist that the initiative and referendum are direct primary, corrupt practices act are more than State measures."

Senator Bourne, after declaring that President Taft does not trust the people, said:

"President Taft's declaration that he is keeping the middle of the road on progressive issues is also disingenuous. There can be no middle course on the question of the adoption of the fundamentals of popular government. He who is not for popular government is against it."

GIGANTIC MERGER NOW UNDER WAY

Atlanta, Ga., September 24.—One of the largest financial deals consummated in Georgia in recent years will be concluded within the next few days when a charter is granted to the Georgia Railway and Power Company with a capitalization of $27,000,000.

Among the water power developments to be consolidated under the new company are the plants at Bull Shoals, the Etowah Power plant and the Tallulah plant, now in course of construction.

The company is backed by Canadian and English capitalists and plans to absorb hydro-electric development projects throughout the Piedmont section of Georgia and to operate in connection therewith the street railway, lighting, heating and power companies, now consolidated in the Georgia Railway and Power Company of this city. Among the incorporators are J. M. McWhiney, Charles Magee, R. Matheson and George A. Kingston, of Toronto, Canada, and Forest Adair, J. J. Spalding, Alexander C. King and F. M. Underwood, of Atlanta.

JEALOUS WOMEN QUARREL.
One Uses Razor With Fatal Results on Another.

Asheville, N. C., September 24.—While Mr. William R. Kirk, owner of Henderson county, was receiving the jury's verdict in the Will Fletcher inquest last night at Hendersonville, another killing was in progress a block from the doctor's office. Anna Williams, colored, twenty-eight years old, fatally cut Mamie Bridges, aged seven, to the heart, with a razor. The woman, who is now in jail, used a razor, who is now in jail, used a razor.

The quarrel is said to have been the outcome of jealousy. The verdict in the case of Will Fletcher, whose body was found on the Southern Railway tracks, was to the effect that "death was caused by a blow inflicted by a blunt instrument in the hands of persons unknown."

STEAMERS TO NORFOLK.
British Vessel Has Just Enough Coal on Board to Reach Port.

Norfolk, Va., September 24.—With just enough coal to make port, the British steamship Corona, of the Quebec Steamship Company, Limited, from Demarara for New York, with ninety-four passengers on board, came into Norfolk to replenish her bunkers, and sailed for New York yesterday.

The Corona is commanded by Captain Carmichael. He says he had to scrape his bunkers to reach Norfolk, and took on forty-five tons of coal to finish the run to New York.
